

How the building might look

The following illustrations will give you an idea of how the new building will look internally as well as in the existing landscape.

A visual representation of the new welcome and interpretation space.

A visual representation of the new café indoor seating area.

A visual representation of the building extension from the approach to the Studley car park.

How the building might look

The following illustrations will give you an idea of how the new building will look internally as well as in the existing landscape.

