Keep a nature diary...

...from your window

Our 50 things to do before you're 11³/₄ have plenty of great activity suggestions to connect with nature, and just because we all need to stay inside at the moment doesn't mean we can't still have a go. Keeping a nature diary is number 48.

Here's how to get started, and tackle some more 50 things at the same time.

Recording what you notice from the same place inside your home allows you to track the changing of the seasons.

Creating your own wild art is number 18 of our 50 things

STEP 1.

Find an old notebook with lots of space.

Or, make your own by gathering some paper and creating a front and back cover out of an old cereal box.

STEP 2.

Decorate it with doodles, paper, leaves, feathers or any natural items you can find nearby.
