Introduction

This property is located in a coastal valley in the village of Wembury. It has a sandy / shingle beach, nationally renowned rockpools and occasional good surf. Dogs are welcome along the coast path all year but only allowed on the beach during 1st October – 30th April.

NB - Mobile phone reception is sporadic across the site, however in an emergency any mobile phone can be used as it will pick up any available signal.

Arrival & Parking Facilities

The car park entrance is accessible off Church road and then along a single width lane to the car park. There are brown signs from the centre of Wembury village leading to the car park. Half the car park is tarmaced and the other half is rough stony / mud surface. There are 3 marked designated spaces for disabled parking.

There is a payment machine at the car park. The cost to park is £6 or £3 after 4pm, or free for National Trust members who scan their card.

Access from the car park to the beach is down a hard-standing ramp and then down a series of large steep steps. These steps have a handrail on one side. There is no wheelchair access to the beach.

There is another access to the beach which follows an undulating mud and grass track through the meadow behind the beach – unfortunately this is not accessible for wheelchairs. This track can get very muddy when wet.

Catering

The old mill café is located on site however this cannot be accessed without going up or down steps. During the summer holidays the beach shop is opening which is accessed via a tarmac slope and provides ice creams and drinks.

WC's

There are toilet facilities down the steep steps; these toilets are not managed by the National Trust. When the marine centre is open there is a accessible toilet located inside.

Marine Centre

The Marine centre run by Devon Wildlife Trust is accessible for all (small ramp over door threshold) with an accessible toilet also located inside the centre. Please check opening times of the marine centre before your visit <http://www.wemburymarinecentre.org/>

Walks

There are walks along the coast path both East and West. These paths are there and back routes all waymarked with the SWCP Acorns. To the West Wembury Point is 1.5 miles from Wembury beach and the route follows a relatively level track. The first 500m of the route is stoned track which then turns into a narrower mud and grass track. To the East the walk first goes up a flight of steps before proceeding up a gradual incline for 400m. Warren Point is approximately 2 miles from Wembury beach along a undulating terrain most of which is on a mud track. At Warren Point there is a passenger ferry during the Summer months which can take visitors across to Noss Mayo. The walk to the East is strenuous in places while the walk towards Wembury point is an easier walk on level (but sometimes slippery) ground. There are occasional benches along both routes. There is no trail suitable for Wheelchairs.

Further information about trails around the property is available on our main website. <http://www.nationaltrust.org.uk/wembury>
