

Things to see and do...

Welcome to the home of the Massingberd family. Gunby Hall was built for Sir William Massingberd in 1700. The Massingberd family lived at Gunby until 1967. The house was tenanted from 1967 until 2012 but is now under the direct management of the National Trust.

DISCOVER three floors of the house, full of interesting collection pieces amassed over generations by the Massingberd family from 1700 until 1963.

LISTEN to Harrison's Garden, an art installation in the basement by artist Luke Jerram made up of more than 2,000 clocks (finishes 4 June).

BROWSE for a bargain book in our second-hand bookshop in the stables.

VISIT nearby National Trust place Monksthorpe Chapel, a beautiful eight mile circular walk or a few minutes by car from Gunby. You can collect the key from the tea-room.

SAY 'I do' in our impressive Music Room, which is licensed to hold weddings and civil ceremonies. Ask a staff member for more information.

EXTEND your visit with a stay in our holiday cottage, Orchard Cottage, nestled in the Gunby gardens. Ring 0344 8002070 for more information or to book.

TAKE part in our '50 things to do before you're 11¾' activities. Collect a scrapbook from the tea-room and mark your achievements.
