*Not mandatory, but this may be used to create a profile of the artist when producing labels for the artwork.

It is free to exhibit work, with the National Trust taking a 25% commission on pieces sold. All profits will contribute towards the care of Nunnington Hall and its collection. Once sold, the artwork will remain in the exhibition until the closing date, when the buyer may then collect it. Please be aware that payment for your artwork may not be processed until January 2019.
