This map shows the National Trust recommended access routes around the wider reserve. It includes public rights of way and permissive access routes. Where public rights of way are not shown it is because a permissive alternative, which is segregated from livestock is available.

Plans are in place for a new multi-user bridge over Burwell Lode to allow cyclists, Horse riders and pushchairs to cross. It will also allow the Highland Cattle and Konik Ponies to move across the lode.

An artists impression of the bridge.

Grazing animals are an important part of vegetation management on the vision project. This includes tenant cattle or our own Highland Cattle and Konik Ponies. On un-segregated routes the path is not separated from the livestock so you have to walk through them. On other paths there are crossing points for the livestock with cattle grids and gates, please take care and close the gates behind you. For advice on walking through animals, please see our leaflet “Ambling with Animals”. Available to download or from the visitor centre.
Be aware that these are multi-user paths and will also be used by horse riders and cyclists. Please show respect to other users.

National Trust Recommended routes only, other PROW are available. Permissive routes are subject to closing.
